What You Need To Know

How to prepare for your test:

No special preparations.

How long will the test take?

About 30 minutes.

What is the purpose of the test?

To provide information about an enlarged thyroid, causes of pain or swelling, or abnormalities such as masses or cysts.

How is the test performed?

You will lie down with your neck hyperextended (extending the neck beyond its usual limit). A clear, water-based conducting gel will be applied to your neck to help with the transmission of the sound waves. The ultrasound transducer (a handheld probe) will then be moved over your neck to create pictures of your thyroid.

Required before test:

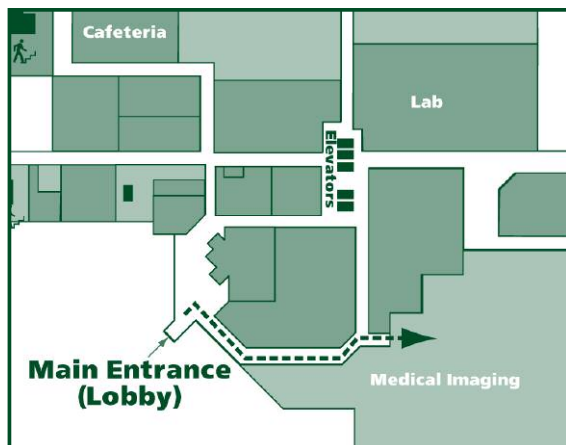

Please provide a signed physician order to perform the exam.

Results will be sent to your ordering physician after a radiologist's review.

Your test will be conducted at:

EIRMC (main campus)

Medical Imaging Department
3100 Channing Way
Idaho Falls
208-227-2600

What is ultrasound?

Your doctor has ordered for you a body imaging test known as an ultrasound. Ultrasound is like ordinary sound except it has a frequency (or pitch) higher than human beings can hear. No radiation is involved. When sent into the body via a transducer (small, handheld probe) resting on a patient's skin, the sound is reflected off internal structures. The returning echoes are received by the transducer and converted into pictures of the internal structures on a viewing screen. Diagnostic ultrasound imaging is commonly called sonography or ultrasonography.
